Don't fail to read the report of the county superintendent of schools on the third page of this issue.

Every one who has used Albuquerque soap-weed soap acknowledges its merits. It isn't pretty but it's good.

Geo. J. Dinkel, the banker of Las Vegas, was in the city yesterday and took dinner with Jefferson Reynolds.

Nothing like it ever seen in the opera house. Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Geo. C. Miln's artistic masterpiece.

Collections by our business men were made yesterday and so far as we can learn no one had reason to complain.

Look at Torlina's greeting at the head of this page wherein he wishes his numerous patrons a happy New Year.

Glittering armor, magnificent wardrobes, elegant costumes and great actors constitute the elements in "Macbeth," given by the Miln Dramatic company.

THE JOURNAL desires to state that it was Levi Spiegelberg, of New York, and not Spiegelberg Bros., of this city, who served an attachment on Hyman & Co.

John J. Snyder has received a most beautiful silver medal as a souvenir of the cattle men's convention at St. Louis. It is a gift from the citizens of the latter city.

WHILE we cannot wish the Santa Fe Review success in all its undertakings, it certainly has our good will as a newspaper, and we most heartily wish, and all the good people of Santa Fe, a very happy New Year.

For home comforts, kindness and attention go to the Journal Hotel, corner Second street and Silver avenue, one block west of depot. Cheapest and best house in Albuquerque, convenient to depot, postoffice and banks.

We understand that our friend, T. J. Shinick, will soon embark in some kind of business on his own "hook." If there is any one of our acquaintance that we would like to see on the high road to "success" it is T. J. S. He is eminently qualified to succeed in any town, hamlet, etc.

The newly elected county officials who take their offices to-day are: Sheriff, Santiago Baca; probate judge, Justo R. Armijo; probate clerk, W. H. Burke; assessor, H. R. Whiting; treasurer, Nor. Illed; superintendent of schools, W. S. Burke; commissioners, Mariano S. Otero, Oliver E. Cromwell and Marcos C. de Baca.

The Christmas tree for the children of the Episcopal church Sabbath school was held last evening at 5:30 o'clock and you can rest assured was well attended. Every one of the little people went away more than satisfied with their presents. Rev. Sheppard received a purse of $110 from his congregation.

With bright prospects New Mexico, Albuquerque and THE JOURNAL welcomes another New Year. We believe we shall have a larger immigration this year than any since 1880. Our rich mines are attracting capital, our excellent stock ranges are being rapidly stocked with cattle, and our rich valley lands are being cultivated to an extent greater than ever

MR. JOHN D. TORLINA OF TORLINA'S BAZAAR

Desires to wish his many patrons of Flagstaff, Winslow, White Oaks, Las Vegas, Coolidge and Albuquerque, and the surrounding country, a

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

May the coming year be a prosperous and happy one for the full measure of before. In no state or territory is there to-day better chances for investment than here, while our almost constant sunshine makes our territory almost a paradise for the invalid. There is room, wealth and health for all and THE JOURNAL wishes all a very happy, prosperous year and many happy years to follow.

365 DAYS

365 DAYS

W. A. Rang, one of the jolly Atlantic & Pacific conductors running between Peach Springs and Winslow, returned from a months visit to his folks in Ohio yesterday and took this morning's train for his post of duty. He says it was the first time in fifteen years that he visited his home, and that the cry of hard times is heard often in the east than even here.

It is a grand sight these fine moonlight nights, and bright days, as we travel our streets in an atmosphere not differing much if any from that of the latter part of September in the north, the ground barren of snow, to cast the eye to the east upon the snow clad San Dias' only twenty miles away. For thousands of feet rises up the ponderous mass of rock and earth, all now hidden by its white mantle of snow.

It is folly for Americans to risk an ocean voyage in search of scenery when right here in our own land, to be seen from the window of a palace car, or from our hotels, are massive mountains made ragged by exposure to the storms of ages beyond the comprehension of the human mind. Albuquerque can furnish the scenery for the tourist; the health for the invalid, and opportunities for safe and profitable investment by the capitalist. All are welcome.

Economy is Wealth.
If you would economize go to the ever popular Journal Hotel, where you will get the best table board in the city for the least money. The table supplied with the best. Polite and prompt attention to all.

The Jailership.
It is now understood that the jailership will change hands in a few days, and we understand that the man who will likely be appointed is the one that kept bar for Mariano Martin, the old town dance hall keeper for several years ago. Should it be him we regret the appointment, as he is known to be a very overbearing and abusive man. He is a large, powerful fellow and would no doubt make a good jailer if he had the proper temper. While on this subject we think Mr. Baca, the newly elected sheriff, would be satisfying his friends, and the public generally, by making Seymour Ball, the present deputy jailer, the jailer proper. He is eminently qualified to fill the bill to the letter, and is possessed of such a disposition that makes friends of the prisoners under his charge. In the capacity of deputy he has served the county well and we would most sincerely regret to see Mr. Ball retired altogether from the jail. Let Mr. Baca consult his better judgment, throw off all prejudice, and appoint a man that can command the respect of the unfortunate who are incarcerated in the bastille. We kindly say these words in behalf of Mr. Ball, because he is the right man to fill the position of jailer.

Journal Hotel
Corner Second street and Silver avenue. This house is still sustaining its well earned reputation of being second to none in the city, as its numerous and ever increasing patronage amply testify. The table is always supplied with the best of the market afford.

Christmas Tree.
The Christmas tree services at St. Johns Episcopal church of this city, which owing to unavoidable delays, was not held till last evening, is recognized on all sides to have been the finest thing of the kind ever seen in this city. The rich melody of the music as it vibrated through every portion of the elegant church quickened the pulse and gladdened the hearts of all the large assembly present.

Rev. Mr. Sheppard, the resident pastor, was made to feel that his services were appreciated by his congregation and many warm friends, by being presented with a purse containing $110. The presentation was made by Judge Haledine in a touching and appropriate speech.

Among the many rich present our attention was attracted to that of an elegant silver fruit dish to Mrs. Spencer and a fine book to Mr. James, the organist.

To the untiring efforts and constant work of Mrs. E. H. Smith and Mrs. Chas. Etheridge, is in a great measure due the success of the evening.

A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Earned.
If you would profit by the above, old but true saying then lose no time, but go to the Journal Hotel for your table board with or without room. You will not regret it as you will be satisfied of having got the worth of your money.

The untidy, dirty appearance of a grizzly beard should never be allowed. Buckingham's dye for the whiskers will readily change their color to a brown or black, at discretion, and thus keep up your reputation for neatness and good looks.

SULLY.

Miln as Macbeth.
Mr. George C. Miln, the new tragedian who bids fair to snatch the Shakespearean laurels from Edwin Booth, is to give us Macbeth at the opera house Friday evening, and the occasion will be the greatest theatrical event of the season. Miln closed a very successful week in Denver. During his stay there the papers have given him column after column of complimentary notices, from which we select the following from the Tribune-Republican: Miln enters into his spirit with a discriminative intelligence. His Macbeth, his intellectuality and histrionic attributes go hand in hand without a jar. His Macbeth is far superior to his Richelieu, and twice as good as the impersonation of the same role he gave in Denver a year ago. He has a large, powerful form, and his disposition to rant, which by the way, is not a bad fault in a beginner, for it is evidence of earnestness; and, though it is possible for him to give a clearer contour to his performance, and we believe he will, with increased experience, yet it must be admitted, taking all things into consideration, that his work in "Macbeth" is something phenomenal. His reading is excellent and his enunciation would be faultless, if he could rid it of a certain indistinct and unpleasant falsetto, which now and then accompanies his reading of some of the lines, we know; but that it appears an affection is nevertheless true. Miln has the true artistic spirit. The artistic execution will come. He is now having the hard experience which all actors have suffered, and he should work all the harder, because success is already so near.

In the third and fifth acts he was equal to the passionate demands of the lines and situations, and won the enthusiastic applause of his audience, which was a discriminating one. Macbeth may be ranked as one of Miln's best impersonations, and as one in which he may one day be truly great.

It is a weekly magazine, containing 122-200 numbers of sixty-four pages each, or more than Three and a Quarter Thousand double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. FOREMOST LIVING WRITERS.
The ablest and most cultivated intellects, the most distinguished names of Literature, Science, Politics and Art, find expression in the Periodical Literature of Europe, and especially of Great Britain.

The Living Age, forming four large volumes a year, is the most valuable and generally accessible mass of this literature, the only compilation that, while within the reach of all, is satisfactory to the complete reader, which is evidence of its value of immediate interest, of its permanent value.

It is therefore indispensable to every one who wishes to keep pace with the events or intellectual progress of the time, or to cultivate in himself or his family general intelligence and literary taste.

OPINIONS.

Art, science and literature find fresh and eloquent expression in its pages from the pens of the best writers of the day and the age. It is kept well abreast of the current thought of the age."—Boston Journal.

"It is a very well written and very readable paper, full of dry or useless pages."—New York Tribune.

"It is a very good, sensible, well written, history, poetry, travel, whatever men are interested in, it is for them. It is for them more for the money it costs than any other periodical within our knowledge."—The Watchman, Boston.

"It has for us an interest and value beyond that of any other publication. Coming once a week, it gives, while yet fresh, the productions of the foremost writers of the day."—New York Tribune.

"Foremost of the electric periodicals."—New York Tribune.

"It is not only timely, but money."—Pacific Coast, San Francisco.
